SIMONE DE BEAUVOIR INSTITUTE MILESTONES 2005 - 2006

New Librarian

Cristina Flores (BA '04), who assisted Carol Mitchell in the library and took over in January 2005, after Carol's retirement, left in March to accept a position as Coordinator of Volunteers for the Weekend to End Breast Cancer.

She has been replaced by Isabelle Lamoureux. Isabelle preceded Cristina in the Work Study position, and has since obtained a degree in Library Science from McGill University. She will be working 25 hours a week in the reading room and has already begun making some very exciting changes!

Promotions

Viviane Namaste promoted to Associate Professor with tenure at the Institute.

Linda Kay, Faculty Fellow, promoted to Associate Professor of Journalism.

Tenure-Track Position

Part-time faculty member Deidre Butler accepted a tenure-track position at Carleton University, where she will be Assistant Professor of Religion, focusing on Jewish Studies.

The MA Planning Committee

The Social Science Chairs have approved in principle the outline of the Institute's proposed MA program. We hope to have a full proposal to submit by the Spring of 2007 and to accept our first MA candidates as of September of 2008.

Student Essay Award

For the second year in a row, a student at the Institute has won the Canadian Women's Studies Association's Undergraduate Essay Prize. This year, Trish McIntosh, who graduates in June with a B.A. in Women's Studies and has been admitted to Concordia's M.A. in Media Studies, has been awarded the prize for her essay, "VIATHAI: White Men's Erections and Neocolonial Representations of Thai Sex Workers." The essay was written for Lillian Robinson's "Women and Globalization" course. Last year's winner was Joanne Campbell, a student in Michiko Aramaki's "Introduction to Women's Studies II" course.

Trish wins a cash prize and an invitation to read a 15-minute version of her paper on May 30th at this year's CWSEA meeting in Toronto.

Record Breaking Numbers

163 program students registered for courses in September of 2005, and the Institute had 829 total registrations for the year (82.9 FTE)

Post-Doctoral Fellowship at the Institute

Mel Lafrance, who is completing her Ph. D. at Oxford University on a fellowship at the Ecole Normale Supérieure in Paris, has been awarded a post-doctoral fellowship from the Social Science and Humanities Research Council of Canada. She will be doing a project on gender and body-transformation (especially plastic surgery) under the sponsorship of Lillian Robinson.

Mel is the Institute's second SSHRC post-doc. Research Associate and part-time faculty member Roksana Bahramitash held the first one in 2002-2004, also under the sponsorship of Lillian Robinson. The result of that study, her book Liberation from Liberalization, was published by Zed in 2005 and launched at the Institute.

Research Grants

Chantal Maillé, who has recently completed a research project "Citoyenneté, questionnements identitaires et représentation politique: qu'en disent les femmes au Canada?" funded by SSHRC, has been awarded a new SSHRC grant for 2006-2009, "Discours et interventions féministes sur la représentation politique: perspectives comparatives"

Lillian Robinson has been awarded a 2006-2009 SSHRC research grant for "Mixed Company: Mythologies of Interracial Rape in American, Colonial and Post-Colonial Experience." Earlier support for this project included a Resident Fellowship at the Rockefeller Foundation's Bellagio Study Center in Bellagio, Italy.

SIMONE DE BEAUVOIR INSTITUTE EVENTS

The Simone de Beauvoir Institute, McGill's Center for Research and Teaching on Women and McGill's Institute for Islamic Studies hosted:

Dr. Roksana Bahramitash

who presented a lecture entitled:

Reading Lolita for the Neocons/Misreading Iranian Women

Thursday, October 13, 2005

H-765-7, 7:00 p.m.

Roksana Bahramitash is a Research Associate at the Simone de Beauvoir Institute. She is the author of Liberation from Liberalization: Gender and Globalization in South East Asia, just published by Zed Books. Her lecture asked why Western feminism, with its roots in anti-war and anti-racist movements, seems so ready to accept racist war, as long as it's in the Middle East.

The Simone de Beauvoir Institute, The School of Community and Public Affairs, Concordia's Communications Department, and McGill-Queen's University Press hosted a launch for:

Something New in the Air: The Story of First Peoples' Television Broadcasting in Canada

By Lorna Roth

Monday, October 17, 2005. 5:45pm

2149 MacKay, Basement Lounge

Something New in the Air charts the development of indigenous television from the 1970s to the present. Lorna Roth focuses on the regional, national, and global implications of Television Northern Canada and the Aboriginal Peoples Television Network (APTN), the only dedicated aboriginal television service in the world. She shows that First Peoples, by making their programming an integral part of the Canadian broadcasting infrastructure, have succeeded in creating a provocative model for media resistance.

The Simone de Beauvoir Institute hosted a launch for:

Sex Change, Social Change: Reflections on Identity, Institutions and Imperialism

By Viviane Namaste

Monday, October 24, 2005

2170 Bishop, MU-101, 7:00pm

"This is a provocative, thoughtful book that challenges readers to think carefully about human rights, feminism, lesbian and gay struggles, and current transgender politics. Namaste's essays make up a useful collection, suitable for courses in Women's Studies, Gender Studies, Sexuality Studies, Sociology, and Canadian Studies." -Dr. Meg Luxton, Women's Studies, York University

The Program in Interdisciplinary Studies in Sexuality and the Simone de Beauvoir Institute hosted:

Douglas Victor Janoff
(Ottawa-based author/researcher and Concordia graduate)

Who presented and discussed his new book,

Pink Blood: Homophobic Violence in Canada
(University of Toronto Press, 2005).

Friday, November 25, 2005.
2170 Bishop, MU-101. 16h00.

The Simone de Beauvoir Institute hosted a launch for:

Liberation From Liberalization: Gender and Globalization in Southeast Asia

By Roksana Bahramitash

Monday, November 28, 2005
2170 Bishop, MU-101, 7:00pm

Bahramitash argues that, ultimately, the only way to stop neo-liberalism, which is trapping millions in poverty, is to limit the role of markets through an elected and responsible state with embedded members of civil society, such as women's groups. Her book argues in favor of a system that incorporates women's groups into the decision-making process of the state while making sure the state remains both transparent and subject to the political advocacy of its citizens.

The Simone de Beauvoir Institute and Montreal's Festival Voix d'Amériques hosted:

Ivan E. Coyote

Wednesday, February 15, 2006.
2170 Bishop, Room 101, 11:30-1:00pm

Ivan Coyote was born and raised in Whitehorse, Yukon, and is the son of a welder and the daughter of a government worker. Ivan's first and truest love is live storytelling. He is the author of three collections of short stories: Loose End, One Man's Trash, and Close to Spiderman.

Ivan took a break from his performances at (www.fva.ca) to read and discuss issues of gender, identity, and storytelling in WSDB 398F: Controversies in Feminism.

The Simone de Beauvoir Institute and Concordia's Communications Studies Department hosted a book launch for:

The Simone de Beauvoir Institute and The League of Canadian Poets hosted a book launch and reading for:

Re:Generations; Canadian Women Poets in Conversation

Edited by: Di Brandt and Barbara Godard

April 21st, 2006. 7:00pm

2170 Bishop, MU - 101.

Authors Sharon H. Nelson, Carolyn Zonailo, Di Brandt, Karen Mulhallen, Cornelia Hoogland, Susan McMaster, and Margaret Christakos were present to read at the launch.

Re:Generations bears witness to the richness and accomplishment of Canadian women's writing. Anti-canonical, it makes, breaks, challenges canon and the notion of a canon, while presenting for our inspection many different "takes" on what women writers have made.

North of 9/11 By David Bernans

Wednesday, May 17, 2006

2170 Bishop Street, 7:00-9:00 pm

Featuring: The author reading from his novel and on guitar. Words by Lillian Robinson, Principal of the Simone de Beauvoir Institute (who appears in the story). Activists banned from Concordia University (Yves Engler and Jaggi Singh) spoke from the sidewalk. Activist video shorts by Le Collectif Les Lucioles

“North of 9/11 is political science at its best. Centred at Concordia University in Montréal during the tumultuous months following 9/11, this historical novel lays bare Canada’s complicity in the American-led war on terror and related state-sponsored repression of dissent.” David Noble, historian & author of Beyond the Promised Land

READING ROOM REPORT

June 1, 2005- May 31, 2006

Statistics

Number of patrons using the Reading Room: 1425
New patrons registered: 164
Breakdown: Women's Studies students: 50
Concordia students from other disciplines: 114
Non-Concordia students: 0
Reference questions: 588 * - from June 1st to February 24th = 405 / from February 27th to April 27th = 183
Loans: 876 * - from June 1st to February 24th = 516 / from February 27th to April 27th = 360
Video Loans: N/A
Reserves: N/A
Monographs purchased: 27 * - 20 of them because of WSSA donation of $250
Monographs added to collection: 52 * - incl. 17 books from last year that were improperly catalogued
Missing books: N/A
Periodical subscriptions renewed: 19 * - out of 32 regular subscriptions
Fines: $163.62
Acquisitions budget: $2000.00 (unchanged in over a decade)
Librarian's salary: approx. $14,800

Due to the great increase in the cost of subscriptions we are unable to order as many books as in previous years and we have also been unable to renew half of our subscriptions. (Some of them, like Signs, have been in our collection since the journal's foundation in 1975).

Gifts and Donations

Our dear principal Lillian Robinson donated her book Wonder Woman as well as To Believe in Women and Pink Blood. A friend of hers, Marilyn Yalom kindly donated her latest book, Birth of the Chess Queen. Professor Viviane Namaste donated a copy of her book Sex Change, Social Change. Professor Michiko Aramaki donated Gendered Intersections, Radically Speaking and Women's Realities, Women's Choices. The Student Association WSSA also made a very generous donation; and Marie-Claire MacPhee (our precious secretary) donated Eve's Quest (a new genre of trivia game celebrating women!)
Every donation is worth mention therefore my sincere apology if I forgot and/or made a mistake.

Work Study Programme

Women's Studies student Christina Foisy filled the position during the fall and winter semesters working first 12 hours then 9 hours per week at an hourly rate of $10.00. Christina Foisy performed her duties in a respectable manner.

Honorable Mention

Two dedicated volunteers, Amy Buckland and Brenda Labelle, have done tremendous work for the Reading Room. Amy is transferring the card catalogue into a computerized database. This will allow us to move forward in automating our collection. Brenda is doing a subject-heading inventory. The completed tally will provide statistics regarding the precise holdings of the reading room, the topics covered, and the percentage of materials that are duplicated in the Webster Library collection. When Christina asked for 9 hours weekly instead of 12 hours, Brenda was put on the pay roll for three hours weekly at an hourly rate of $10.00. They are both dedicated and professional women; their help is and was precious.

In February the interim documentalist Cristina Flores left to work for the Jewish General Hospital's March To End Breast Cancer. We wish her good luck in her endeavours.

Isabelle Lamoureux, the new head librarian, started working on the 27th of February. She was Carol Mitchell's assistant for many years, has a MLIS and was very glad to be back. A very special thanks to WSSA!

Miscellaneous

The Reading Room is going through a major transformation please read the Plan of Action 2006-2007 (available in June). The space will be adequate for the next two maybe three years; after which we will be unable to continue operating the Reading Room without adding room 403-1. I have ordered a second computer that should be hooked by the end of the summer. Shelves will be added in the periodical room in July.
